6th February 2020

Chaupal spreads the colours of tradition, art and music.

The epicentre for the entire buzz in the mela is the Chaupal or the amphitheatre. It is a platform where the colours of the world come together and present a bouquet of performing arts and songs. Everyday visitors gather and witness one of the most fascinating and exhilarating performances by cultural troupes not only from across India but from more than 39 countries.

There are numerous performers from the theme state – Himachal Pradesh who have given the audience performances worth remembering. From Traditional Nati to songs filled with folklores, there is a slice of Himachali life in each of their performance. Dressed in colourful traditional attires these artists from Himachal are spreading a vibe of optimism and happiness every time they are on stage.

Partner nation Uzbekistan too has brought scintillating performances which depict their age old culture. Dressed in attractive ethnic attires the performers from Uzbekistan have presented many dance forms of which the traditional Lazgi Dance is being loved by each and every visitor.

Many other countries like Vietnam, Kyrgyzstan, Sudan, Russia etc are entertaining the audience throughout the day with their traditional art forms and folk songs.

The evening cultural shows are the soul of the chaupal and this year the evening performances have seen enthusiastic attendance by visitors. Many popular folk and classical artists have performed at this very chaupal and this year too promises a star studded presence.

The evening of 5th February saw the electrifying performance by Akanksha Saini, who gave a performance that kept the audience glued to their seats. People were seen dancing energetically to her tunes around the stage. She belted out hit Bollywood numbers one after the other as the crowd echoed ‘once more’ and showered her with song requests to which she happily obliged.

The evening on 6th is waiting for yet another enthralling performance by Mahua Sen and it promises to be as exciting as the day before.
